The DIMMER VIEW

by Max Goodwin

ERA is Pandora's Box

There is evidence all around that many of government's great sociological projects don't pan out.

At one end of the spectrum are those "happy houses" that have proliferated in the past few years where people with problems can go to have their situations straightened out—usually by people who themeselves are plagued by severe problems.

It is supposed that these facilities give a degree of help, although there has been no one with the courage apparently required to make such a study with the expectation of proving them successful.

For sheer size and complexity, there is the busing law. Evidence grows that the great, happy intermix hoped for has not been achieved—and that both blacks and whites would much prefer to let their young innocents attend the school nearest home and do away with the cross town system.

Newest gimmick on the scene is the Equal Rights Amendment to the Constitution (E.R.A.) That proposes to make women equal with men in the matter of Social Security but the more E.R.A. is examined, the more obvious it becomes that what appeared to be a very simple and straightforward meausre is in fact a Pandora's box loaded by booby traps.

Presently, Social Security provides that those who work have set aside a certain percentage of the money they earn for their old age. Employers must also pay an additional percentage of the employee's wages into the fund as a cost-of-doing-business expense. Men and women alike suffer this taxation.

But E.R.A., when it becomes effective, will double the Social Security taxes on all husbands whose wives are not employed outside the home. It is estimated that an additional tax burden on these husbands of at least $960 a year—more, should Congress raise the S.S. rate, which is a likely possibility.

Sylvia Porter, noted newspaper columnist and financial advisor, recently wrote: "The homemaker would contribute Social Security taxes just like any other self-employed person now covered." She admits that the additional tax would have to come out of the earnings of the husband, and that "it might be charged that he would be paying taxes twice—once on his own earnings and once on the assumed earnings of his wife as a homemaker." But then she goes into the old "women's lib" argument about it being "fair and equitable." She tries to make the point that "if the husbands had to hire someone to perform his wife's household duties . . ."

Few husbands would deny that his wife is "worth" a lot more to him than any person he could hire to run his home, raise his children, cook his meals, plan the budget, do the houseworth and perform the thousand and one tasks of a wife and mother.

What E.R.A. will really do, should it be ratified, would be to put a tax on marriage.

Phyllis Schlafly, in her SCHLAFLY REPORTS, warns "More than half of the U.S. taxpayers are already paying more Social Security taxes than they pay income taxes. E.R.A. will thus double the Federal tax load of many married male taxpayers.

"The long range result of such a mischevious and costly plan will drive most wives and mothers out of the home. In many families, the wife will be economically compelled to take a job in order to help pay the additional $960 in taxes.

"There will, of course, be no increase whatever in benefits based on their husband's earnings.

"This additional Social Security tax is one of the many ways the Equal Rights Amendment discriminates against those who believe that it is a social good to enable the wife and mother to be a fulltime homemaker, especially when the children are young," Schlafly said.

E.R.A. is a bad amendment which tends to serve government more than it does the people it should serve.

Many states hastily ratified the proposed amendment before any study was made of its consequences.

Two states have repealed their ratification. Others should do so to avert the mischief that would be done when E.R.A. is written into the tax code.

'Customer' Takes Divan From S.V. Massage Parlor

Two "customers" entered the Valley of the Dolls massage facility at 8614½ Troy st., Spring Valley about 1:20 a.m. July 22.

Sandra Kay Thompson, 26, massage technician, (m.t.) told them it would be 10-15 minutes before she could give them service. She asked them to be seated in the waiting room.

A few minutes later she came back to tell them to "keep it quiet". Shortly after that m.t. Thompson said she heard a thumping noise in the waiting room and went to investigate.

The two men who posed as customers were carrying the divan they had been sitting on out the door. In the process, a leg was broken off the furniture and the pair left three sofa cushions on the floor.

M.t. Thompson called the sheriff's department. Then she went out to get the license number of the car the pair were loading the divan onto.

She described both men to be about 35 years of age and weighing about 150 pounds. One had decaying teeth and acne, she said, and the other had a mustache and wore sandals.

Police have tracked the license number of the car to a Santee address.

Salesman Kept Sample Sweeper Firm Charges

It may have been a case of the salesman liking the product too well.

Jack R. Darby, operator of a Kirby vacuum sweeper store at 7931 Broadway in Lemon Grove, told sheriff's deputies that he had loaned an employee a vacuum sweeper for demonstrating purposes on July 9. On July 23 he told sheriff's deputies that Bishop William Harrison, of El Cajon. had not returned the device. Nor for that matter, he had not even answered the various telephone calls instituted by Darby and taken by family members.

Deputies then left their telephone number for the accused employee to call. He also didn't return that call either, it was said.

Merchants to Wage Battle With County Over New Sign Ordinance

TOO BIG — The 72 sq. ft. sign above Leonard Klein's Marders Stationers, 7939 Broadway, exceeds county standards by 4.5 sq. ft. The sign will have to be shortened or replaced by September 6 in order to please County sign ordinance officers. Klein is one of several merchants who favor resisting the enforcement of the new tougher code.

A movement is afoot in Lemon Grove to fight a few county crackdown on illegal signs.

Speaking to the Chamber of Commerce Board of Directors on the subject last week was Olin Thompson, proprietor of Broadway Hardware. He spoke instead of Don Irwin, chairman of San Diego's United Business Commission who failed to show up to discuss ways of fighting the year-old county ordinance.

Thompson explained to the board that no legal action could be taken to fight the county until they begin enforcing the new code. Only when the county begins levying fines can an injunction against the ordinance be filed.

The new county codes go into effect September 6 and word is out that Lemon Grove will be the first target area of enforcement.

The ordinance was passed by the County Board of Supervisors last August. The new code controls all signs except billboards which fall under a separate ordinance.

Crackdowns have been scheduled in stages, the first stage being painted-on signs. Certain forms of signs will benefit from abatements scheduled for up to five years.

Form letters were served this month via registered mail to at least seven merchants on Broadway whose signs have been found to be out of line with the new county specifications.

Facing fines or alterations by September 6 — the date the county promises to start fining violators of painted signs — are Alamo Vacuum and Sewing Co., Marders Stationers, Andrew Kerr's Mr. Health, Lemon Grove Appliance, Lemon Grove Health-ful Foods, Provinzano Italian Bakery and Delicatessen and Popular Liquor, all on Brodway.

Leonard Klein, proprietor of Marders, protested the ordinance at the chamber meeting in view of his violation which was based on the fact that his 72 sq. ft. sign is 4.5 sq. ft. over the legal limit. He said he will wait until September to see what the county does rather than alter the sign which has stood above his shop for 19 years.

Bob Fritch, sign enforcement officer, first formally warned local merchants at a Chamber meeting in February. At that time he revealed that Lemon Grove merchants with their "proliferation" of signs, would be first in the county to face the tough restrictions of the ordinance.

"We have one of two alternatives to enforcement," Thompson told Chamber members. "We can either pay the fines and keep quiet about it or we can fight it by filing

Chamber, County Idea

Easement Would End B'way Parking Woes

The Lemon Grove Chamber of Commerce has worked out a new angle on upgrading the private parking area on Broadway between Imperial and Kempf in Lemon Grove.

The Chamber worked out arrangements with the Transportation Department of the County of San Diego in principal last week.

Boiled down to its essence, the agreement amounts to this:

If Broadway property owners give an easement of their parking area to the County, the Director of Transportation indicated that his department would recommend to County Board of Supervisors that the parking area be improved to county standards.

The parking area would then be developed and maintained including striping and sweeping. Property owners would receive $1 in exchange for the easement.

The area involved is the parking space from sidewalk to county control traffic curb. No changes will be made in sidewalk nor traffic curb.

Al Boggs, Deputy County Engineer for Engineering Services, appeared at last week's Chamber meeting at Los Cazadores restaurant to discuss the plan with merchants polled for their sentiments on the proposal. "The project would require 100 per cent support from one or both sides of the street," Boggs cautioned at the meeting, pointing out the impracticality of maintaining only spot portions of the parking areas.

The Chamber is sending easement forms to property owners along with a letter explaining the plan. With a favorable response, the Transportation Department will make a presentation to the Board of Supervisors.

Trial Bus Route To Serve Casa De Oro Riders

The Casa de Oro area is scheduled to have a new bus route service commencing January 26, 1976, reports Spring Valley Chamber of Commerce President Glenn Boelter. The County Board of Supervisors has approved the tentative route, Route 53, planned to travel from Spring st. in La Mesa, east on Rt. 94 to Kenwood dr. and proceeding down Campo rd., Sweetwater Springs rd., Del Rio rd., S. Granada ave., Austin dr. to Sweetwater Springs to U.S. Elevator and Otay Water District. The bus will run hourly from 6 a.m. to 8 p.m., Monday thru Saturday.

In addition, Boelter reported, Route 11 service in La Presa, Spring Valley will add Saturday service beginning November 16. Route 36, serving La Presa and Carriage Hills will have Sunday and Holiday service deleted September 14.

Bikes Stolen

John Murl Long, of 3872 Roger rd., Spring Valley, reported that two 10-speed bicycles had been stolen from his unlocked garage on July 22. The white one is a 23-incher; the 19-incher is orange.

The theft occurred while Long was away from home. The loss, he estimated, was $200.

Vacation For Glenda

Glenda Jackson is going on vacation.

She'll be gone from August 4-18.

The vacation is important to more people than just Glenda.

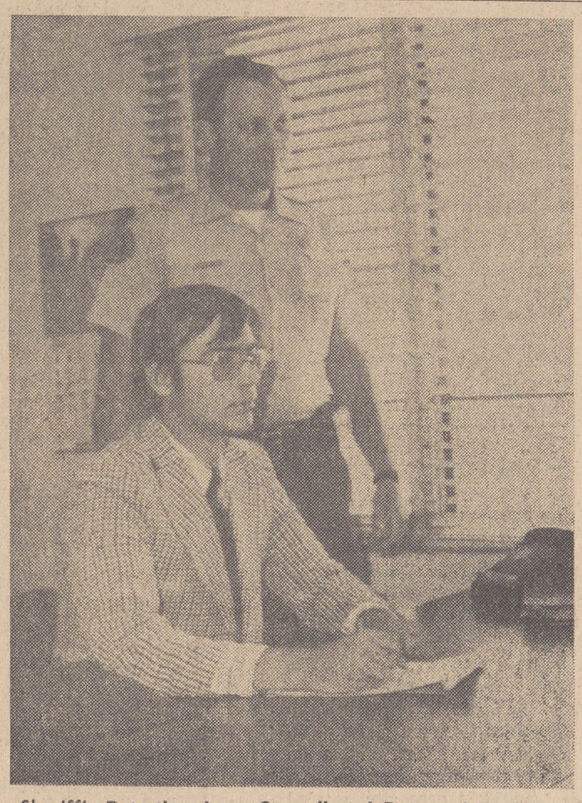
She is the office manager of the Lemon Grove Chamber of Commerce.

While she's gone the Chamber office will be closed.

27 Years for Review

This issue marks the beginning of the 28th year of publication of the Lemon Grove Review. The newspaper has chronicled the events of the community whose population has increased by more than four times its size since it began publishing 27 years ago.

The award-winning publication first appeared in 1948 when the area boasted little more than 5,000 residents and a handful of businesses on Broadway and Imperial.



Sheriff's Detective Jerry Cantrall and Deputy J. L. Boer—the burglar was just 14.

Burglary List Solved By Arrest of Girl, 14

by Max Goodwin

She's a pretty Mt. Miguel high school student just 14 years old but her summer vacation ended with the shutting of a juvenile hall door last week.

At the time sheriff's deputies delivered her to Juvenile Hall, they had four cases of burglary firmly tied to her and the total might go as many as a dozen.

Residents in the Felicita, Ildica, Tarleton, area had reported growing numbers of burglary losses. Usually the loss was jewelry — but there was a twist. The burglar sprinkled foodstuff about the house and in one case tore the resident's drivers' license into bits and scattered them about.

Vacation Caper

On July 23 Kenneth Earl Hixon, of 1626 Tarleton was burglarized. The family discovered the loss as they came home from vacation. The loss was $2,000. Prior to that, on July 7, Franklin Dewite Reed, of 435 Felicita st. was burglarized of valuables worth $165.

On July 8 Robert L. Callahan of 538 Felicita st. suffered a burglary loss of $1100.

On July 11, Paul A. Roseberry of 8737 Ildica st. was burglarized of $230.

There were others. July was a good month in Spring Valley for burglars. But so far four have been associated with the 14-year old Spring Valley miss.

Boer Given Legwork

Sheriff's deputy J. L. Boer was assigned to the Hixon case. Boer works out of the Lemon Grove office of the Sheriff's Department. Hixon gave him the names of six persons who knew there was jewelry in Hixon's house. The trail went nowhere.

Hixon is a friendly sort of a fellow and the youngsters in the neighborhood like him. He asked some questions. One

Screaming Woman Thwarts Would-Be Raper in Grove, Neighbor Slain Later

Screams of "rape" attracted habitues of two Broadway bars — Rodeo Room and the Inn Spot — about 10:30 p.m. July 22. The bars are in the 8300 block.

A 22-year old woman who lives at 8303 Broadway lane, claimed she was grabbed and thrown to the ground by a man who smelled like he had been drinking.

The woman said she had gone to the Winmill Liquor store, 8291 Broadway, a half-block from her home to get some milk, cigarettes and ice cream when she was grabbed by a man who had been standing under a tree along the route.

She said he put one arm around her neck from behind and clasped his hand over her mouth. In the struggle her blouse was ripped, her glasses damaged and she was bitten by a dog which was attracted to the struggle.

The assailant dragged her into an alley then slapped and hit her repeatedly after she broke loose long enough to start screaming. He dropped her and fled when witnesses appeared on the scene.

Witness Respond

Four witnesses described the attack and gave a description of the assailant.

Later that night a woman, a neighbor of the one attacked, called sheriff's deputies to oust a 29-year old man who had been living at her home for three days but who was creating a disturbance there at the time she called.

The woman was reported to be Cheryl L. Husoen, 26, of 8313 Broadway lane.

Police booked Patrick Dan Kennedy, 29, of Chula Vista in County Jail. An investigation is following because he answers the description of the man who attacked the woman earlier that night.

Neighbor Shot

On July 28, Mrs. Husoen was found shot to death in the patio of her home by sheriff's deputies who responded to a murder-attempted suicide call about 4 p.m.

She had been allegedly shot by her estranged husband, Arthur Husoen, 48, an unemployed truck driver, who then shot himself twice in the head. He was found alongside his wife.

Officials said that Husoen and another man came to the Broadway lane residence where another man and woman were visiting at the time.

Argument

Husoen and his wife went out to the patio to talk and an argument ensued. The shooting followed.

Husoen died Wednesday morning in Grossmont Hospital where he had remained in critical condition since the Monday shooting.

Three youngsters in the home were taken to Hillcrest Receiving Home.

Stays as Consultant

Byron Miller Quits Helix Water Post

Byron Miller, general manager at Helix Water District, delivered his letter of resignation to the board of directors last week ending a 24-year career with Helix. The board accepted the resignation, effective August 1, and agreed to retain Miller as a special consultant at his present salary until his planned retirement next year. Miller, 63, earns $31,440 a year.

The board elected Clarence Watters Jr., associate general manager and chief engineer at Helix, as Miller's successor. Watters, 50, has been with the water district for 25 years.

Miller's early resignation was designed to help his successor develop management personnel during the 16-month transitional phase from now until his retirement.

He also felt it wise, during a time of extensive construction, to have stable leadership in the District in order to facilitate critical financial projections so that water rate structures are established in a fair manner and often enough to avoid excessive changes.

The water district is currently involved in a four-phase major reconstruction phase in order to upgrade facilities to treat northern California water which will be blended with Colorado River water.

Voters approved the sale of bonds to finance the project in the November election last year.

Miller's resignation came as no surprise to the board members who had discussed it for some time. He will retire November 16, 1976.

$2,000 'Mess' At CdO Market

It was a mess.

The person who wreaked the vengeance on the interior of the Bargain Bin market at 9935 Campo rd., Casa de Oro last week must have been fully dedicated.

In the end, the damage and loss was more than $2,200, according to Ron R. Potthoff, 37, owner of the market.

The intruder got in through a rear window and used a blow torch and hammer and chisel on the safe to no avail.

Frustrated there, the burglar took hunks of meat from the refrigerator and threw them about the market then threw sawdust on the meat left in the cooler. Strewn about the store were 100 lbs. of ground beef, 100 pounds of beef and pork, and 50 watermelons.

When he left the thief took 80 cases of beer, 100 cartons of cigarettes and an AM/FM receiver. The damage and the thievery was about evenly divided.

Potthoff gave sheriff's deputies the name of a suspect and they are checking the suspect out.

S&L's Interest Is $41 Million

A record $41 million in interest was paid Gibraltar Savings account holders during the first six months of 1975 it was announced by Ralph J. Noble, vice president and San Diego County district manager of the statewide association. A branch is scheduled to open in Lemon Grove later this year.

Noble said that Gibraltar paid savers $21 million in interest for the second quarter ending June 30, 1975, also a new record for the 53-year-old association.

Gibraltar Savings, with $1.7 billion in assets, has 54 office locations spanning the 800-mile length of California from the Oregon to the Mexican borders.

CHP Vows Removal of 45,000 Derelict Cars

Another 45,000 derelict cars will disappear from the landscape in fiscal 1975-76, the California Highway Patrol predicts.

Such disappearances are arranged by the Highway Patrol and 46 counties and 235 cities which have contracted to join in the State's two-year-old abandoned vehicle abatement program.

In the program's first two years, ending June 30, at least 63,306 abandoned autos which had become public nuisances were removed from public view under a swift and simple abatement procedure that became law in 1973.

The two-year total is expected to increase by two or three thousand by the time all the invoices on abated vehicle come in to the Highway Patrol from the contracting cities and counties.

Most of the hulks are hauled away by auto dismantler firms once the local authorities have cleared the legal path, and are reduced to fist-sized chunks of scrap, the sale of which reimburses the dismantler in most cases.

Derelicts found in hard-to-reach locations, make routine removal methods physically or economically impractical. In such cases special abatement projects are arranged for which special equipment is contracted.

In the most recent of these, 109 automotive eyesores were removed from the Cleveland National Forest by helicopter in a joint project of Orange County and the California Highway Patrol.

Contracting cities and counties conduct their own abatement programs under State guidelines and the California Highway Patrol reimburses their administrative costs on a car-by-car basis as the derelicts disappear.

This tight management has meant that up to now the CHP has been able to operate the program on the interest from the $15.7 million a $1 service fee on 1973 auto registrations raised to fund it.

Rancho S.D. Plots First Shop Center

The first shopping center site in the prime development area of Rancho San Diego is now being offered.

Thomas-Fletcher-Nicol Co. a San Diego commercial and industrial real estate brokerage firm is handling the sale.

The 10.58 acre site, graded and padded for construction, and already zoned for commercial development, is located at the southwest corner of Sweetwater Springs blvd. and Austin dr. in Rancho San Diego. The area is immediately adjacent to La Mesa and Spring Valley, existing residential development, Monte Vista High school and a new post office.

Many families already live in the adjacent Sweetwater Village community of Rancho San Diego, and a new extension of the Village is already underway.

"Rancho San Diego is an outstanding, planned new community with quality development," according to Bob Wallace. The new shopping center site is the first in a 4,600-acre development which projects an ultimate construction of more than 17,000 residences.

TFN operates from its offices in 5th ave., Financial Center Mall at 2550 5th ave.

CALPIRG Study is Basis for Nursing Home Watching Group

Citizens concerned with nursing home conditions in San Diego County are forming an organization called "Friends of Nursing Home Patients" and asked for volunteers and supporters from the community.

"Nursing home patients are the most defenseless segment of our society," said Nancy Baughman, a registered nurse at the Senior Citizens Medical Clinic and one of the organizers of Friends of Nursing Home Patients.

"Some nursing homes are providing very poor care and, at present, there is no group dedicated to upgrading nursing home conditions and insuring that the basic human rights of patients are not abused," she said.

Inspired by CALPIRG

According to Baughman, the concept of starting Friends of Nursing Home Patients was inspired by the California Public Interest Research Group (CALPIRG) which recently published a 95 page report on the level of care in San Diego's 70 skilled nursing facilities. She said, "Real reform in nursing homes is only going to take place when there is a massive influx of citizen involvement inside those nursing facilities".

Eileen Skelly, who has spent many years visiting patients in local nursing homes and serving as a patient advocate, outlined the group's goals and strategies: "We will train and coordinate volunteers to make visitations to nursing homes and act as patient advocates. She said that each person will be assigned a particular facility and will work with the nursing home administrators to improve the conditions in the home, provide better activities programs and draw more community volunteers into the home.

Activities Listed

Other involvements that Friends of Nursing Home Patients plan include:

— Investigate and resolve complaints against nursing homes by citizens.

— Answer questions for patients and families about placement, patient rights and special problems.

— Exert pressure on the officials from the State Department of Health charged with enforcement of minimum standards of care to take action against poor nursing homes.

— Set up patient governments and family associations within the individual nursing homes.

Friends of Nursing Home Patients is currently in the organizing stages of development. It will be completely a volunteer effort and concerned citizens wishing to volunteer should call the CALPIRG office, 236-1508.

Tax Claim Rep. To Help Seniors In East County

A State representative will be in El Cajon August 5 to assist California senior citizens in filing claims for benefits under the Senior Citizens Property Tax Assistance Law.

A temporary office will be open at Wells Park, 1153 Madison ave. between 9 a.m. and 4 p.m., according to Jack Monroe, director of the Senior Citizens Property Tax Assistance Program.

The special assistance is available to senior citizen homeowners with limited income. To be eligible for partial reimbursement of their 1974-75 property tax, claimants must own and occupy their home, be 62 years or older as of January 1, 1975, and have a total household income of $10,000 or less.

Almost 310,000 claims were paid last year for a total of $50 million, Monroe said. The average amount paid was $161.

The amount reimbursed is based on the total amount of property tax paid and the household income of the claimant, Monroe explained. Payments can range from 4 percent to 96 percent of the property tax paid.

Claim forms will be available at the temporary office or may be obtained from any Senior Citizens Property Tax Assistance Office or by writing to Senior Citizens Property Tax Assistance, P.O. Box 1588, Sacramento, CA 95807.

The deadline for filing claims this year is September 2, but claimants are urged to file early. Payments begin in early July and are paid in the order received.

School Board Assn. Pushes For Full Rodda Bill Funds

California's school boards gave notice last week that they will not accept the Governor's proposed compromise for emergency school financing. When the Legislature returns in August, the California School Board Association will insist upon the full amount of funding proposed in the original school finance bill authored by Senator Albert Rodda, Sacramento.

"Anything lower than the $28 per student increase in support is not acceptable in terms of the needs of our schools or in terms of fairness to the children of this state," said Joseph M. Brooks, Executive Secretary of the California School Boards Association.

"Unsalaried school board members who have nothing personal to gain from increased school money have just plain had it with inadequate school funding year after year and have decided to take a stand on this issue. All this bill does is provide relief from inflation at a minimum level — does nothing toward equalizing education for children, does nothing toward providing ongoing school support."

In the last hours before the Legislature recessed June 27, the Governor offered a compromise to the $115,000,000 Rodda bill, offering $88,000,000 with the right to further reduce the state support level and to put a lid on summer schools.

The bill opposed by the California Teachers Association and the California School Boards Association failed passage by a narrow magin. It will be brought up for reconsideration when the Legislature reconvenes Tuesday. The CTA has since stated that it will support the compromise in August. Only California School Boards remained opposed.

Undersea Cove Study Planned At La Jolla

Brown algae, abalone, crabs, snails and fish can best be observed underwater in natural surroundings. On August 2 and August 16, the San Diego Natural History Museum is sponsoring two one-hour snorkeling tours of this environment at the La Jolla underwater park at La Jolla Cove.

Small groups will be led by Dr. George Radwin, Museum Curator of Marine Invertebrates, and Dr. Mia Tegner of Scripps Institution of Oceanography to insure maximum safety and learning. They will explore the underwater environment and observe interrelationship of plants and marine animals during an hour long swim through the intertidal area.

Participants must be competent swimmers and use face mask and fins. Parent approval forms are required for those under 18. Swimmers under 15 must be accompanied by a parent. Charge for the swim is $3. For reservations call the Museum's Activities Department 232-3821.

S.V. Burglar is Girl, 14

youngster told him that a 14-year old girl had offered to sell her a piece of turquoise jewelry following the burglary.

It was a slim lead but officers tried to follow it somewhere — anywhere. Detective Jerry Cantrall was assigned to the new lead. Recent burglary reports were studied and new cases got more than usual attention.

5 Busts in 8 Days

One report showed that a teen-aged youth had been arrested five times in eight days on separate burglary charges — getting out on probation each time. He was free at the time of the latest burglary. He was not involved in the Hixon, et al, cases but it gave an indication why youngsters take chances.

Another was a 17-year old youth who was caught in the general area of the Spring Valley rip-offs after a three hour stake-out by deputies. He denied knowledge of the jewelry thefts.

Detectives studied carefully Boer's 15-page report he had meticulously documented. Finally, the youngster who claimed she had been offered a piece of jewelry admitted she knew the seller. That took courage!

Shopping Bag Full

Following that lead detectives found a cache of jewelry. It almost completely filled a king-sized shopping bag.

The youngster confessed. She also cooperated with deputies who drove with her through Spring Valley as she pointed out houses that she said she burglarized. If she was telling the truth, some victims, apparently, had not reported their loss. She also pointed out places — particularly condiminiums — that she tried to get into but couldn't. If true, a number of Spring Valley residents were almost her victims but they didn't quite make it.

Takes One to Know One

During the tour she told Detective Cantrall that she knew he got the 17-year old youth. He had been with her on at least one burglary, she said.

She also named another girl, about her age, who joined her in at least one burglary.

That's about where the case stands now. Officers are quick to note that handling juvenile cases is sticky. Police want to reduce crime but they do not want to make an erroneous charge against a youngster. It is often hard to get information from juveniles about other juveniles. It's almost as if they operated a union. And some of the misinformation seems more reasonable than the truth.

But cops have the responsibility of keeping down crime. That's what they're trained for. That's what they're paid for.

There is hardly an officer who doesn't wish youngsters would realize the enormity of crime before they commit it. A police record is not a legacy cops would give to misguided youngsters without cause.

But now the die is cast. Not only will she possess a record but her arrest will probably incriminate several other youngsters.

It will be sad for law abiding citizens if she is given probation and released. It would almost be like approving her thieving habits and she will continue to lead and take part in more unlawful activities.

Sheriff's Deputy Boer and Detective Cantrall wish that their effort will lead to rehabilitation.

Sign Battle

an injunction."

Thompson pointed out that he favored the injunction as a chamber supported effort, but that the expenses would be high. "It will take at least $1000 to fight it out in the courts," he said.

Robert Arum, a Beverly Hills attorney with a reputation for winning legal battles pertaining to sign ordinances, is being eyed to represent the merchants.

The court injunction, if granted, would hold until June 30, Thompson said. After that time, it would be necessary to enter a second plea to halt enforcement — unless Lemon Grove cityhood gets voter approval in the June election. In that case, he said, the city would be responsible for its own sign code.

'Dolly' Starts 3-Week Run At Balboa Tonight

Musical theatre's all-time record breaking show, "Hello Dolly", open with a new Starlight production tonight in Balboa Park Bowl. The Starlight theatre performances will continue August 1st through 3rd and August 7th through 10th under the stars and the flight pattern of Lindberg Field. Curtain time is 8:30 p.m. nightly.

Suggested by Thornton Wilder's "The Matchmaker," "Hello Dolly" focuses on the match-making adventures of Dolly Levi, the unconventional 'everywoman' of Victorian New York City circa 1898. "Dolly" won the coveted Antionette Perry and the New York Drama Critics Circle awards as the best musical of 1964. Rich in color and action, "Hello Dolly" enjoys the most popular reputation of recent musical comedies.

Connie Reed, well known San Diego comedienne, portrays Dolly Levi. Dolly's pursuit d'amour, Horace Vandergelder, will be played by Tony Heller. Starlight favorites Louis McKay, Sr. and son Louis McKay, Jr. will play the Judge and Barnaby respectively.

The memorable music of "Dolly" — the title song, "Put on Your Sunday Clothes," "So Long, Dearie," "Before the Parade Passes By" and "Ribbons Down My Back" is tuneful and toe-tapping.

Advance ticket sales for the "Hello Dolly" run have been excellent according to J. Howard Stein, Starlight's executive producer.

Weight-Loss Camp Claims To Do Wonders for Obese

A fad diet is not a fad when you're shelling out $1,290 to participate. That's why administrators at Camp Murrieta, a new slim-down camp for girls based at the University of San Diego, are certain about claims of its effectiveness.

The above sum pays for lodging, meals and activities in a seven-week change of lifestyle that affects diet, exercise and psychology of each of its subjects.

New to San Diego, the program is a four-year success story in three other locations in Texas, Wisconsin and Washington. The camp promotion blurb lists average weight losses of 29 pounds and average waistline reductions of five inches. 86 per cent of girls in past programs have lost at least as much as expected, 36 per cent lost even more, they claim.

The program is a combination of physical activity, lessons on new eating patterns and a slate of social activities. Charm workshops, fashion shows, field trips and other special events are scheduled into the program.

Exercise is based on the highly acclaimed aerobic concept which tones the body while strengthening internal organs, notably the respiratory system and the heart.

The physical exertion is complimented by a strict 1200 calorie daily food intake.

Girls 8 to 21 are eligible for the camp which is now in session for the summer. Young ladies in the 17-21 range receive a more flexible schedule at the camp and are offered private accommodations. More emphasis is placed on make-up, hairstyling and clothes buying in this age bracket.

Counselors and specialists augment a staff that includes a nutritionist, a nurse and a psychological counselor.

More Ride Bus Despite Higher Transit Fares

No one is sure what the "magic formula" is, but they're not complaining. San Diego Transit braced itself earlier this month for after effects of a 10 cent fare hike and was pleased to discover that, instead of a drop in service, more people decided to climb aboard.

An increase in ridership of over 26 per cent was recorded during the first week of July.

It's a timely situation, according to J. Warren Mooers, Transit spokesman. "The cost of gasoline has gone up constantly, especially in the past few weeks. People are beginning to realize that it's less costly to ride the bus."

Also, more seniors and handicapped have taken the time to learn the routes and take advantage of the service which offers them a ride for 15 cents with free transfers and no zone changes. These riders, Mooers said, have helped boost the ridership during the "base time," the daily period after the morning rush hour and before the evening traffic crunch.

Regular rates rose July 1 from 25 to 35 cents with free transfers and no zone changes.

Monthly passes are $14 for regular riders. Students may purchase a pass for $10; seniors and handicapped pay $6.

Passes may be purchased at most banks, savings and loans, Walker Scott stores, San Diego Transit offices and the Plaza Information Booth at 4th and Broadway in downtown San Diego.

Early American Reader Revived For Preschool

The Bicentennial is being celebrated at Mt. Miguel Child Center, a new La Presa nursery school, by stressing the McGuffey Reader to acquaint children with the reading materials of early America.

Mr. Francis Schraff, director of the center, believes there is a lot of merit in this relic of Americana dating back to 1879, its original copyright date.

The primer emphasizes the alphabet, the Lord's Prayer, the Ten Commandments and stories and mottoes to encourage boys and girls to behave, love their country and respect their elders.

"William Holmes McGuffey, the famous American educator to produced these successful primers believed in the value of honesty, thrift, hard work and bravery as virtues necessary to the building and maintenance of a great nation," Schraff said.

Schraff, who won an award as Outstanding Teacher of the Year in 1973 while teaching at McCall's Ranch School, a private school in Alpine, thinks that the best way to honor our national heritage in the bicentennial year is by building character in our current young citizens.

Tools Gone

Bernard Anthony Vassallo, who lives at 2010 El Prado in Lemon Grove, reported on July 22 that his electric tools had been stolen from a storage shed. A drill, saw and hedge trimmer, all worth $100, were taken. The loss occurred while he was gone a week.

Renowned Artists Share Lead Role In 'Coppelia'

Marlene Jones and Eugenia Keefer will alternate in the role of "Swanhilda" in the California Ballet's full-length version of Coppelia to be performed in August at UCSD.

Miss Jones has gained international stature as the result of a high placing in the 1974 Varna, Bulgaria International Ballet Competition, and is extremely popular locally as "Sugarplum" in the company's yearly production of "The Nutcracker." She recently toured nationwide with First Chamber Dance Company.

Miss Keefer was widely praised for her "Swanhilda" earlier this year in Coronado.

The ballet will be presented in the new UCSD (La Jolla) Mandeville Cantre Theatre on August 15, 16 and 17. All programs begin at 8 p.m.

September Fair To Fete S.D.'s Working Women

San Diego women are being contacted this month to urge their participation in "San Diego Women '75," a day-long fair to raise the level of awareness of the contributions made by the women in the greater San Diego community.

The fair, a celebration of International Women's Year, will be on the mall at Mission Valley Center, Saturday, September 12. Women in the arts, sports, dance, professions, trades, community service, homes, politics and government will be featured at the fair.

Individual women and organizations are being asked to provide exhibits which tell the purpose of the group, what products or services they offer, their interests, point of view and activities.

Interested persons or groups should contact Shirley Mattingley or Ms. Lowe at the United Nations, Association, Balboa Park, 233-8457.

NEWLYWED — Wedding bells rang at noon, Saturday for the former Alane Howarth who married Michael Harbison at Skyline Wesleyan Church in Lemon Grove. The new Mrs. Harbison is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norman B. Howarth who live at 577 Broadview st., Spring Valley. She is a Mt. Miguel graduate who has earned a BA degree at San Diego State and a secondary credential at USIU. Harbison, son of Mr. and Mrs. Millard Harbison of El Cajon, holds a B.A. from State and has attended Dallas Theological Seminary three years. After a honeymoon in Victoria, British Columbia, the couple plan to reside at Asbury Theological Seminary, in Kentucky.

Obedience Trainers Plan Fall Sessions

Registration starts August 5 for the fall season of obedience training classes at the Humane Society. Starting dates for the classes are August 19 and 21. Dogs must be over four months old with proof of rabies, distemper, hepatitis and leptospirosis shots.

Pre-registration is required and dog's shot records must be presented at that time. Cost for the entire course is $20 payable at registration.

Afternoon classes will be held every Thursday for eight weeks starting at 1 p.m. on August 21. The classes last for one hour.

Evening classes, which are also held once a week for eight weeks, will be conducted at 7 p.m. beginning August 19 and 21.

Driver Given Marijuana Charge

Sheriff's deputies stopped Timothy Leon Snipes, 21, of 9118 Barneveld, Spring Valley, for excessive speed along Jamacha blvd. about 12:20 a.m. July 23.

While making out the citation, officers smelled the strong odor of marijuana emanating from the passenger portion of the VW he was driving, they reported.

In the ensuing investigation officers reportedly found 19.9 grams of marijuana, Zig-zag cigarette papers and a cigarette roller in his vehicle.

He will be arraigned in El Cajon Municipal Court.

Boneless beef short ribs stuffed with bacon and herbs are strictly for feasting. Their hearty flavor is one which the men in the group always appreciate. Brown them first then simmer with white wine and fresh tomatoes until the beef is tender. Artichoke hearts go in at the last minute. To soak up the delicious juices, plan to serve this excellent western beef entree with rice or nooddles.

Y Has Class for Women's Waists

Afraid to lay on the beach this summer for fear someone will notice your bulging midrift? The Davis Family YMCA is conducting a new class aimed at women concerned about their increasing waistlines and diminishing figures. The class is called Exercise & Fitness to Music.

According to Slimnastics instructor Kathy Marcinke, not only does the class help ladies stay slim and trim but it also provides healthy and fun outlets to relax and escape those feelings of tension and stress.

Instead of chowing down on that leftover meatloaf and strawberry ice cream, inquire about the proram at the Davis Y, 8881 Dallas in La Mesa or call 464-1323.

3-2, Co-ed Golf Tournament Inked for N. County Courses

A major new professional golf tournament, with women and men pros playing together and competing for separate purses, has been announced for San Diego County next October.

The tournament, as yet unnamed, will have a minimum total purse of $68,000.

The 72-hole event, given a major status on the Ladies Professional Golf Association (LPGA) tournament schedule, will take place October 23-26 under a five-year agreement.

The LPGA pros will shoot for a $43,000 purse with the men pros competing for $25,000. The male pros will be invited from the membership of the Southern California Professional Golfers Association (SCPGA).

"This is the first time that women and men pros will be competing side-by-side for separate purses in a major golf event," said Ted Vallas, president of Golf Inns of America which signed the tournament contract with the LPGA. "Carol Mann (president of the LPGA) and the LPGA tournament staff deserve considerable credit for assisting us in developing a tournament with this unique and appealing format."

Tourney Unnamed

Vallas said that the naming of the tournament has been reserved for a sponsor or a sponsoring group.

"The cost to a sponsor for this tournament is nominal and is fixed," Vallas said. "There is no financial obligation to a sponsor beyond his original fee. Furthermore, the benefits here are far greater than for a regular LPGA event.

"Although we don't require the involvement of a sponsor in order to conduct a successful event, we do believe that such involvement would allow both the tournament and the sponsor to develop opportunities that would be mutually rewarding."

Three Courses

Three Rancho Santa Fe area courses will be used for the tournament. Already committed are Whispering Palms Country Club and Lomas Santa Fe Country Club. A third course will be named shortly.

The field will consist of 80 LPGA pros along with 80 SCPGA pros. Each SCPGA pro will be required to bring a three-person (male or female) amateur team. The amateurs will play three days (54 holes), always with their SCPGA pro but alternating their LPGA pro, and scoring toward two pro-am events. Amateurs will pay a $350 entry fee. An electric cart, breakfast and a dinner dance are included.

The field will be cut to the low 40 women and men pros for the final round, which will be played at Whispering Palms.

Vallas said that although SCPGA pros must develop an amateur team as a condition of their entry, individual requests from amateurs who wish to participate are being invited. Those who are interested should contact Whispering Palms Country Club.

3 Ams — 2 Pros

The tournament field will be paired in fivesomes for the first three days, each group consisting of three amateurs, an LPGA pro and a SCPGA pro and two courses will be used.

LPGA Officials have indicated that most of the leading money winners on the women's tour can be expected to play here. They point out that a hosted-tournament in Japan follows this event and travel arrangements for the women coincide with their participating here.

Top Singles Players Here for Friars Play

The three leading men's singles players in World Team Tennis will be testing the improving talents of San Diego's Vijay Amritraj during tennis spectacular at the Sports Arena August 6, 8, 9 and 10.

John Newcombe, Maty Riessen and Mark Cox all will appear against the Friars who, with Vijay, have won more than they have lost in men's singles competition.

Newcombe (Hawaii), Cox (Pittsburgh) and Riessen (Cleveland) are scheduled against San Diego the evenings of August 8-9-10 with the Friars opening the spectacular week by playing Los Angeles the night of August 6.

Cox, who at mid-season led all WTT men by winning eight of ten singles sets, and Riessen, second with 14 of 18, will be making their first San Diego appearance. Newcombe lost to Amritraj in their May meeting at the Sports Arena as San Diego defeated Hawaii in a thriller, 30-28.

Davis Cup Play

Cox made his Davis Cup debut for Great Britain in 1967 and although scoring in generally impressive style in WCT play, never really moved into prominence until this year's WTT campaign.

Riessen is another story. Dark, handsome and American, he slumped in singles after reaching semis of U. S. Open and maintained his lofty station (he was ranked ninth world-wide in 1972) through excellent doubles play. But the WTT season has stimulated his singles performance and he is winning convincingly once again.

Newcombe, of course, is Newcombe — expected to be fully recovered from the injury that idled him from Wimbledon competition.

But Cox, Riessen, Newcombe and Amritraj are only a supporting cast to the congregation of tennis talent awaiting San Diego fans.

Los Angeles brings Rosie Casals, Bob Lutz, Geoff Masters and Ross Case.

Court and Buchholz

Margaret Court and Butch Buchholz join Newcombe for Hawaii.

Evonne Goolagong and Vitas Gerulaitis back up Cox for Pittsburgh while Clark Groebner and Ann Haydon Jones support Riessen for Cleveland.

Also appearing as part of the spectacular will be Boston, Phoenix and Indiana with such players as Bob Hewitt, Valerie Ziegenfuss, Tony Roche, Brian Fairlie, Allan Sone and Wendy Overton.

Tickets for all matches are now on sale at the Friars offices, 1275 Camino Del Rio South, or at the Sports Arena. Ticket prices for the evening Friars matches are $6.50, $5.50 and $2.50 with persons 18 and under admitted for $1.

The price of all tickets includes parking.

Breakers vs. S.C. At Arena Tonight

Coach Rudy Suwaras San Diego Breakers were finally tumbled from sole possession of the International Volleyball Assn's first rung of the ladder as they lapsed into a tie with the Los Angeles Stars.

LA bumped the locals 3-0 last weekend.

Tonight's confrontation with the Southern California Bangers at the Sports Arena winds up a six game homestand for the Breakers as they wing into Texas that same evening for a two-game series with the El Paso/Juarez Sol on August 1 and 4.

Southern California, idle this week, indicated they will be "up" for tonight's game with San Diego, and have promised a suprise for the co-leaders.

Led by the lightning-fast Toshi Toyoda, the Bangers have been steadily improving and are geared for an upset win over the Breakers.

On to El Paso

Following the Southern California fracas, the IVA co-leaders fly into El Paso for a two game series with the Sol. They leave tonight at midnight, and arrive in Texas at 5 a.m. That same night, they take on the Sol aggregation at the El Paso County Coliseum. Over 5,000 Texas fans are expected to be at the game.

First 'Bullring by the Sea' Corrida Draws Top Matadors

One of the most exciting cartels of the summer has been booked for next Sunday in the opening corrida at the bullring by the sea, Plaza Monumental de Tijuana.

Scheduled are matadors Manolo Martinez, Adrian Romero, and Robert Ryan, who will face two bulls of Tequisquipan beginning at 4 p.m.

For the Yankee matador, Ryan, this will be his first Tijuana corida since June 13, 1971, a day when difficult bulls prevented the award of any prizes.

Martinez, 29, of Monterrey and Romero, 25, of Mexico City will each be making his third appearance of the summer. Martinez, the highly talented ace considered by many observers to be the world's No. 1 torero, was especially grand at Tijuana on June 29 when he won four ears and one tail from two Jose Julian Llaguno bulls.

Romero Artistic

Romero's top effort this summer at Tijuana was May 25. His veronicas were superb, his banderilla placements were outstanding, and his faena, with the left hand as well as the right, was artistic and daring. But sword trouble deprived him of awards. And his next bull gored him in the right thigh while he placed banderillas.

Ryan, 30, a native of Inglewood, has fought 10 times in Tijuana. The first was on June 11, 1967, when he took the alternativa — became a full-fledged matador — in the downtown bullring in a ceremony presided over by matador Raul Garcia.

Six Gorings

He has suffered six gorings. With banderillas and sword Ryan is one of the most accomplished of all today's bullfighters. He is also a fine artist, with a major show of oils and scratchboards scheduled for Los Angeles in January and exhibitions pending, without dates, for Madrid, Paris, and Mexico City.

Ryan is one of only five Americans ever to become full-fledged matadors. The others are Richard Corey, John Fulton, Diego O'Bolger, and Sidney Franklin.

Tequisquiapan is one of Mexico's leading ranches. It was founded in 1942 by Fernando de la Mora at the pueblo of Tequisquipan, state of Queretaro.

S.V. Bobby Sox Loses Bid For Second Championship

By Paul Stark

Spring Valley Bobby Sox Minor All Stars appeared ready to spend their vacation in Buena Park again when they beat Peninsula and Clairemont. But back-to-back 4-2 losses to El Cajon and Clairemont ruined their plans. Last year they won the national crown.

On July 19 the All Stars shutout Peninsula 8-0.

Spring Valley got the only runs needed in the first inning when they scored four runs on five hits.

On Sunday Spring Valley used the combined pitching of Cindy Landrum and Mary Foy to beat Clairemont 6-2.

The all stars broke open a 1-0 game in the second inning with four runs on three hits, two walks and two errors.

The All Stars on Monday suffered their first setback of the tournament when they lost 4-2 to El Cajon who were the runner-ups in the minor all star national tournament in Buena Park last year.

El Cajon was limited to five hits but took advantage of six Spring Valley errors to score their four runs.

Spring Valley had numerous chances to break open the game as they collected eight hits and El Cajon commited five errors but they couldn't get the hit to break open the game.

On Tuesday Clairemont knocked the All Stars out of the tournament by scoring two runs in the sixth inning to win 4-2.

The All Stars had a 2-0 lead in the first inning when they took advantage of three hits and an error for their two runs. After the first inning their hitting stopped as they could only manage three hits the rest of the game.

El Cajon on Friday won a trip to Buena Park by beating North El Cajon 14-4. Chula Vista beat Navajo 5-1 and North El Cajon nipped Navajo 1-0 in 11 innings for the other two teams who will represent San Diego in Buena Park.

Local Racers In Spotlight At Cajon Oval

Pat McIntyre of Spring Valley leads the pack with Lemon Grove's Gary Beecroft in 8th place in ECSRA point standings at the Cajon Speedway as a new race week begins.

This week it will be nostalgia time Saturday night when several super stock-car stars of the past — headed by ex-champions Vance Butler and Tex Kimbrell — return to the three-eights of a mile oval for a special old timer's event.

This will be only part of the action. Qualifications are set for 6:30 and the trophy dash at 8.

Stretch Driver

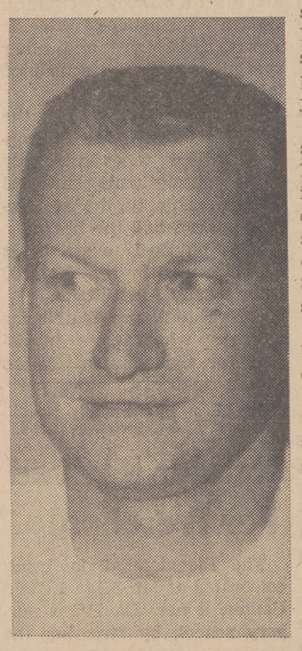
McIntyre, who has won two other championships, has accumulated 1,965 points including four main events this season.

Biggers has 1,780 and young Ron Esau, 1,400.

The last two features have been won by first timers. Larry Aufdengarten won three weeks ago and Ralph Dineen the next week.

Among the field of 20 are many former main event winners.

Besides Butler and Kimbrell,



Don Manlow

other returnees are Mummert, the first ECSCRA champ; Don Manlow of Lemon Grove, Gil Stephens, Burnie Burnworth, Jim McCormick, Rueben Carbellido, Bill Harrell, Rudy Skuija, Wilbur Saxton, Warren Toles, Bill Shannon, Bobby Chambers, Glen Hoagland, Al Anders, Dave Greenwell, James Perez, Ed Wood and Chuck Miinch.

Chicago Bears Opens Chargers Season

With the opening pre-season game against the Chicago Bears less than two weeks away, coach Tommy Prothro will attempt to put more charge into his San Diego Chargers at their U.S. International training camp this week.

The Chargers face the Bears at San Diego Stadium on Saturday night, August 9.

The San Diego defense dominated the offense in a full-scale scrimmage before 11,500 fans at the Stadium last Sunday. The offense managed only three touchdowns, all engineered by rookie quarterback Neal Jeffrey, and 19 first downs in the nearly two-hour skirmish.

A 17th round draft choice from Baylor, Jeffrey completed 8 of 11 passes for 128 yards and one touchdown and ran for another score. He also was a standout in the Chargers' rookie scrimmage victory over the Dallas Cowboys at UC Irvine two weeks ago.

Prothro was asked whether Jeffrey's strong performance changed his No. 3 status behind veteran quarterbacks Dan Fouts and Jesse Freitas, who are expected to battle among themselves for the starting position.

"I still thing he is clearly No. 3," answered Prothro, "But a lot stronger No. 3."

49ers Here for Youth

Charger receiver Gary Garrison has joined teammates Don Woods and Doug Wilkerson as members of the new San Diego Leadership Club.

Sky Grove won the Pony League District playoffs over the week end by beating El Cajon 1-0 and 3-0 on consecutive days.

On Friday Philip Oyos struck out 10 in marking up the first of the team's two shutouts.

The only run was scored on an error by El Cajon's left fielder.

On Saturday Ruben Garcia pitched a one-hitter, striking out 12. Terry Bolin's homerun in the sixth inning with two aboard accounted for the runs.

Sky Grove now goes to Chula Vista for sectional playoffs, according to coach Jim Crancker.

ABA Franchise New Owners

Groza, Musselman, Kaze on Sails Staff

The name of San Diego's newest ABA basketball franchise is the "Sails."

Yau can't mess around with that as newsmen did with the Conquistadors when they prophetically called 'em the Cons.

The name announcement was made this week at the regular meeting of the Sportscasters/Sportswriters Assn.

In other long awaited decisions Bill Musselman, 34, was named coach.

Irv Kase, 48, got the nod for the post of general manager.

Everybody's favorite, Alex Groza, was named director of player personnel. He was vice president, general manager and coach of the defunct Conquistadors

The appointments were made jointly by Frank Goldberg and Bud Fisher, franchise owners.

Irv Kaze

Kaze is experienced. He was business manager and assistant to the president of the San Diego Chargers for 8 years. He was believable and well-liked here. He left in 1974 to become administrator of communications for the National Baseball League in San Francisco working with Chub Feeney.

His sports career started in 1954 with the Hollywood Stars in the Pacific Coast League. He was public relations for the L.A. Angels; worked with CBS TV in N.Y; the Pittsburgh Pirates until 1967, and came to S.D. in 1967.

Bill Musselman

Mussellman is a 10-year veteran as head coach in college basketball. He started at Ashland (Ohio) in 1965 and moved to Minnesota in 1971 where he stayed until last season. His record at both schools: 198-62.

Alex Groza

Groza, a habitual dieter, player center for U. Kentucky teams that took title after title, including NIT and NCAA championship.

He became business manager for the Kentucky Colonels in 1967. In 1972 he was named general manager and vice president of the Conquistadors. He held that title with the added responsibility of coach when Wilt Chamberlain dropped out of the post.

The new owners of the Sails are San Diego businessmen of long standing. Goldberg is in home furniture and Fischer is in office furnishings.

Grove Driver For World Championship

Lemon Grove's Johnny Johnson will be co-driver with Thomas Hoke of San Diego September 6-7 at Riverside International Raceway when SCORE's "AC-Delco World Championship" race is contested.

Hoke and Johnson saw action last month when both were competitors in SCORE's "AC-Delco Baja Internacional." Hoke in a Chenowth Wedge came in second in Class 9 and former Baja 1000 overall winner Johnson drove a Baja Bug with his wife Linda as co-driver.

At Riverside spectators will be able to watch the team in action as they tackle the gruelling 3½mile course carved as a mini-duplicate containing all the challenges of a Baja race.

All the bone jarring events will belong to the spectators as well as the competitors as grandstand seats provide a clear view of the thirteen classes vying for a combined purse and contingency money in excess of $170,000.

The annual SCORE "AC-Delco World Championship" is a unique and thrilling race as it provides all the sights and sounds of off-roading usually inaccessible to spectators out in the wilds.

There is a large enthusiastic off-road race following in the San Diego area plus a big contingent of award winning drivers and riders expected to enter the race.

For entry or ticket information about the Riverside sports classic contact SCORE headquarters at 2701 E. Anaheim, Wilmington, Ca. 90744, (213) 437-0466.

Tickets will be available through Ticketron or at the Raceway. Campsites are available for persons purchasing event tickets.

Hafey Tries Reyes Again Friday Night

State champion Alberto Reyes will be listed as the underdog, but most of the pressure will be on Art Hafey when the pair meet Friday night in a featherweight rematch at the Coliseum.

Facing the Manila-born Reyes is a key battle for Hafey since the local Irishman is set to oppose Salvador Torres at the Inglewood Forum in just three weeks. The winner of the latter affair will get the opportunity to duel Ruben Olivares for the world title this fall.

Art Hafey

"Actually, the bout here worries me more than the one at the Forum," says Art's manager Burke Emery. "Torres was knocked out in Mexicali two months ago but Reyes has been stopped only once in his career — and that was by Bobby Chacon, the ex-champion.

Back on July 11, Hafey edged Reyes over national television on a points verdict. The match was extremely close until the Filipino, who was forced to shed three pounds at the noon weigh-in, tired in the final round.

Unbeaten heavyweight prospect Mike Mitchell will also box Friday, appearing in the card's semi-windup. The former San Diego State and USC football star will oppose San Jose's Fernando Jones in a six rounder.

Critchfield Joins Aztecs Hoop Staff

Russ Critchfield, former All-America guard at the University of California has joined the San Diego State basketball staff as an assistant coach.

Critchfield, 28, will join head coach Tim Vezie and current assistant Ken Baker. Critchfield will be Vezie's No. 1 assistant.

He played three years of varsity basketball at Cal from 1966 to 1968. In his three years he was All-Northern California three years, All-Pacific-8 three years, All-Coast two years, team Most Valuable Player three years, Northern California Sportswriters Player of the Year in 1968, and Helms All-America two years.

He also played in the World University Games in Tokyo in 1967, in the East-West All-Star Game in 1968 and was an alternate for the Pan American Games in 1967.

Critchfield still holds 10 Golden Bear basketball records and is the alltime career scorer for a three year career with 1437 points, has the best three year scoring average with 19.4, is the alltime single season scorer with 545 points in 1967, has the best single season scoring average at 22.0 and the most field goals in a season with 129 in 1967. He scored over 30 points five times in his career with a high of 36 against Texas in 1966 and Oregon in 1968.

After graduating from Cal he played a year in the ABA for the Champion Oakland Oaks in 1969. Alex Hannum, former San Diego Rocket coach, was the coach of that team. Warren Jabali, currently with the ABA team in San Diego, was Critchfield's teammate.

TAKE FIVE

By John E. Wirges

Mary Haley Fleury is a bright eyed 50 year old matron with the zest and spirit of a teenager. She stands 5-feet, one and one-half inches tall and burdens the scale at 109 pounds, soaking wet.

Mary has a husband, a daughter and five sons, four of whom played football in high school like their father. And now it's her turn.

Mary Fleury, the Pride of Spring Valley, owner of a 7.6 second 40-yard romp, soon to be a grandmother, is a candidate for the San Diego Lobos female professional football team.

"I think it's terrific," she says. "I've wanted to play football all my life. I think it's a great game. I'm having the time of my life."

She lined up to hit the sled and it nearly knocked her down. She didn't give up. There's more sand to Mary Fleury than giving up to a dumb blocking sled.

She'll play anywhere, she says. And her determination kind of stumps Lobo coaches. Where do you play a tiny, unstrong, slow, inexperienced, 50-year old grandmother type? Vince Lombardi never faced problems like that.

Petite Mary Fleury, who does the 40 yard sprint in 7.6 seconds, maybe the oldest, smallest and slowest rookie in the history of female football, but she's having the time of her life as a team member of the San Diego Lobos — Ladies pro-team. A long time resident of Spring Valley, she says her daughter didn't play, but four of her five sons did and so did her husband. "And now it's my turn." She's shown hitting the blocking sled.

In fact, Vince Lombardi probably never even considered the day when women folk would try their hand at football. Can't you see his amazement if he had lived to see the extension his sport has come to endure.

A question to the master. "Vince, do you think women are capable of playing a contact sport like football?"

The clouds would turn dark and thunder would roll across the sky amid flashes of lightning in mild reflection of his mood.

"Hell," he would thunder in echo to the booming of nature's clash. "Dancing is a contact sport. Football is a collision sport."

And that's about where male, chauvinistic, superior thinking, patronizing, football loving types, like this portable pounder and his brothers across the nation, feel where female football should be placed.

With dancing.

"How," we demand in our masculine pride, "can a mere female learn to block, drive, hit, pass, catch, hurt, kill, main and otherwise do serious physical injury to the body of another in the name of sport?"

Of course, they can't. Therefore, women can't play football.

But don't tell the 50 or so gals trying to make the Lobo squad head coach, owner, trainer and club president John Mulkey, Jr. has sweating through drills early evening and Saturday mornings at Marion High School.

Those gals think they can play. Everybody, from their 50-year old grandmother to a 18-year old know-it-all wiseacre, physically test themselves in the sweat and dirt demands of gridiron scholarship each session, and learn something of a surprise, both of themselves and the game.

They learn the deep satisfaction of pitting their physical and mental strength against others doing the same. They glow with inner pride in participating. They learn to step past individualism to that much more difficult plateau, submission to teamwork. And, they're learning football.

As 19-year old quarterback Sandy Malhiot, who can really play the game, says, "They keep quiet in the huddle or I slap 'em up aside their helmet."

So they gather, these ladies, getting ready for their first game. On Aug. 17 the San Diego Lobos will host the Los Angeles Dandelions in the first game of an eight game season. Home games are scheduled for the football works at Mesa Community College. Prices start at $4 and go down to $3 for military and $2 for kids 16-and-under. All very professional.

The gals get $25 per contest which makes them pros, too. It's not enough to live on, but NFL players didn't get much more when pro football started back in the '20s.

Lombardi says he demanded a commitment to excellence and to victory, because that was what life was all about. Surely the ladies have a right to learn such a lesson. That is, of course, if they get dinner on time.

National Hole-in-One Contest Aids Boys Club

NEW YORK — A hole-in-one contest to benefit the Boys' Clubs of America will be held nationwide over Labor Day weekend, announced John L. Burns, president of the youth organization.

The winner and the golf pro at his club will each receive a 1976 auto.

"We anticipate 4,000 public and private golf clubs will participate in this first nation-wide hole-in-one contest," said Burns. "We hope to raise $1,000,000 for guidance programs of the Boys' Clubs of America movement."

Entry fee is $1 for the sharpshooting event, which will be conducted August 30-Sept. 1. Each club will designate a par-3 hole for its target.

If more than 20 contestants make holes in one, a drawing will be held to limit the total number at 20. These finalists will receive an expense paid trip for two via American Airlines to Puerto Rico, where the finals will be held at the El Conquistador Hotel & Country Club course.

Padres Homestand Starts Friday; Old Timers Game on Saturday

The second half of a big 14-game run against the Atlanta Braves and Houston Astros will conclude in the next few days as the San Diego Padres host the pair of Western Division rivals for six games.

The Padres, who are just coming back into town from meeting the same two clubs eight times on the road, will open the homestand against the Braves Friday, Saturday and Sunday and then wrap things up with the Astros August 4-6. All six dates will be single affairs with the starting times for the Braves games being 7 p.m. on Friday, 8:15 p.m. on Saturday and then the usual 1 p.m. on Sunday. All the Houston contests will get underway at 7 p.m.

Old-Timers

The late start on Saturday, August 2 is necessitated by the fact that will be the annual Old-Timers Game night with some of the greatest names from baseball's past playing a special game beginning at 7 p.m.

Hall of Fame pitchers Sanday Koufax, Lefty Gomez, Bob Feller and Early Wynn will headline the cast for the San Diego Padres annual Old-Timers Game scheduled for Saturday night, August 2.

This year's contest will pit the California All-Stars against the Major League All-Stars beginning at 7 p.m. The regular San Diego-Atlanta game will get underway at 8:15 p.m.

8,779 Strikeouts

Between the four hurlers, they ran up a total of 920 victories and 8,779 strikeouts with each of them averaging 17 years in the major leagues.

Koufax, the only three-time winner of the coveted Cy Young Award, will be making his first appearance in an old-timers game other than for the Dodgers for whom he starred in his 12-year career. The lefthanded Koufax (165 wins, 2.76 ERA and 2,396 strikeouts) will team with ex-Yankee great Lefty Gomez (189 wins, 3.34 ERA, 1,468 whiffs) to lead the California All-Stars.

Facing them will be former Cleveland Indian greats Bob Feller (266 wins, 3.25 ERA, 2,581 strikeouts) and Early Wynn (300 wins, 3.54 ERA and 2,334 strikeouts).

Great Hitters

The game will also be featuring some of the game's great power hitters from years gone by headed by Ernie Banks and Eddie Mathews. Both of them finished their careers with 512 home runs, good enough for a ninth place tie for the most round-trippers ever hit. Banks, of course, spent his entire career with the Chicago Cubs while Mathews is the only player to have been with the Braves in three different locations; Boston, Milwaukee and Atlanta. Both will be playing for the Major League All-Stars.

Backing them up will be slugger Johnny Mize. The ex-Giant and Yankee standout clubbed 359 homers in his career including a high of 51 in the 1947 campaign. Mize will also be playing for the Major League club.

Jackie Jenson will play Saturday in the Old Timers game. He was a member of the Boston Red Sox 1950-1961 and was the American League MVP in 1958. An outfielder with a batting average of .278 and 199 homeruns, he quit the Sox in 1961 because he didn't want to fly.

Mac, the Coach

The Padres coaching staff will be involved in the game as manager John McNamara, pitching coach Tom Morgan and base coaches Jim Davenport and Dick Sisler will all be playing for the California All-Stars.

Rounding out the pitching staff for the California club will be former Dodger star Don Newcombe (a former MVP and Rookie of the Year) plus Larry French and Morgan.

In the infield apart from Sisler and Davenport will be Pete Coscarat, Dick Bartell, Ray Boone and Rudy Regaladdo with former Red Sox star Jackie Jensen heading up the outfield along with Albie Pearson, Floyd Robinson and Al Ferrara. McNamara will do the coaching.

Hall of Fame

As for the remainder of the Major League club, Sal Maglie, Robin Roberts and Hal Schumacher will complete the pitching corps. Roberts just missed out on being voted into the Hall of Fame last season as he finished just 10 votes behind inductee Ralph Kiner.

Joining Mize at first base will be Mickey Vernon while Jerry Coleman will be at second base and Banks and Mathews at shortstop and third base, respectively. In the outfield it will be Hank Sauer, Hank Leiber, Terry Moore and Guz Zernial and Ken Retzer will handle the catching.

Managers for the contest will be Bill Rigney for the California All-Stars and Charlie Grimm for the Major League crew.

La Jolla Mile On Del Mar Card

The always-interesting Derby division will command center stage Sunday when many of the outstanding three-year-olds in the West tangle in the 35th running of the $25,000-added La Jolla Mile, climactic event of the racing week at Del Mar.

Preceding the La Jolla Mile, key steppingstone to the chamionship-deciding $40,000-added Del Mar Derby on Aug. 24, will be the $20,000-added San Clemente Stakes for three-year-old fillies Saturday (Aug. 2) and the $15,000-added Graduation Stakes for two-year-old colts and geldings Wednesday (July 30).

The La Jolla Mile promises to attract a competitive lineup of stakes-class sophomores Sunday. Among those scheduled to run are Howard B. Keck's Sibirri, Elmendorf's Pay Tribute, Leone J. Peters' Fleet Velvet and Joseph Morjoseph's Larrikin.

Sibirri, a son of Bagdad and Dingle Bay trained by Charlie Whittingham, was runner-up to the brilliant Forceten in the Swaps Stakes and then was third behind Intrepid Hero in the Hollywood Derby at a mile and one-half on the grass.

Other prospects for the La Jolla include Solarizer, Wood Carver, William Radkovich, Ensign Ruken and Bending Away. Also Pay Tribute, Fleet Velvet and Larrikin.

Tubs Scoured Up for Mission Bay Race

Bathtub racers are scrubbing up their tubs in preparation for the fourth annual America's Finest City Cup Bathtub Race scheduled for Sunday, August 17 at Crown Point Shores in Mission Bay Park.

Race chairman Jim Bracklow stated the event is strictly for fun and encourages everyone to start working on a creative design so they can enter. For the less adventurous, there will be games and contests held along the shore during a day-long family picnic.

Rules state the entry must be genuine metal, porcelain, or fiberglass only and must conform from the waterline down to the shape of a bathtub. Functional modification of the tub hull will not be allowed; however, individual design above the waterline is encouraged. A special award will be presented to the most creative design.

Any assist structures, such as outriggers, must be at least 12 inches outboard of the vessel and cannot protrude beyond the outside length of the tub. They must be a minimum of 4 inches above the bottom of the tub.

Outboard engines only are permitted and must not exceed 7½ h.p. No racing or modified engines will be allowed.

The race will be run on a slalom course, with 2 laps approximately 1/4 mile, parallel to the shoreline.

The event is co-sponsored by Mission Bay Associates and Farrell's Ice Cream Parlours. There is no fee to enter the race and no charge for parking or admission.

Workmen pictured are pouring concrete from conveyor belts onto a ramp which links westbound Campo freeway traffic with rt. 94. Caltrans implemented the project to relieve congestion at the junction of Campo rd., Broadway, Spring st. and routes 94 and 125. Work is expected to be completed by fall of 1976.

Clown Week To Be Marked In San Diego

The San Diego State University Clowns will turn out in full force August 1-7 to celebrate National Clown Week in San Diego County.

A week full of activities is planned to salute National Clown Week and promote the art of clowning in the San Diego area.

Club members will entertain refugees at Camp Pendleton August 1 where they will make balloon toys and perform "walk-around" gags for the children.

On August 2 they will perform on the mall at Mission Valley Center and apply clown makeup on shoppers.

They'll be in Balboa Park August 3 and will pose for pictures at the Prado, Space Theatre fountain, Spanish Village, the carousel and the zoo entrance.

They'll visit area hospitals August 5 and close the week with a banquet on August 7 at Shelter Island Inn. Club members will be in makeup and costume for the evening.

Retail Clerks Trusteeship Judged 'Valid'

U. S. District Court Judge Samuel King in a preliminary decision rendered recently said that the current trusteeship, imposed by the Retail Clerks International Assn. over Retail Clerks Union Local 1222, is valid.

He also found that former Business Representatives Michael Sweeney, Frank Wilson and Tim Gallagher, should not be reinstated to their jobs.

The trusteeship came into existence 14 months ago after 139 members of the union testified at a hearing that the union was in an emergency situation.

Speaking of the trusteeship, the Judge said:

"It seemed very clear to me that it was imposed legally and for a valid purpose . . ."

In terms of the three, dismissed by the local union, he said, in part: ". . . Probably, if I were their employer I would have fired them myself . . ."

He did find, however, that the union had violated certain rights and granted the three partial back pay.

The Judge's decision also dismissed the case against Acting Secretary-Treasurer and Deputy Trustee Norman Heard, who has been Local 1222 executive officer since the trusteeship, in these words:

"I can't see that you have proved any case against Mr. Heard and I would dismiss him as a defendant."

At the request of RCIA Vice President Jack Loveall, who also serves as Southwestern States Director, RCIA President James T. Housewright has ordered the temporary trusteeship over the local to end this November 1.

An election of officers and business representatives will precede termination of the trusteeship.

101 Homesites Asked for Lake Jennings Area

A draft environmental impact report (EIR) for Lake Jennings Estates is being studied by the County of San Diego.

Lake Jennings Estates involves the subdivision of 40 acres into 105 homesites for single-family dwelling units. The property site is located at Lake Jennings Park rd. and Julian ave. in Lakeside.

The draft EIR for this project is available for review at the County's Environmental Analysis Division, 1600 Pacific Highway, San Diego; the Ecology Centre, 340 Kalmia st., San Diego; and at the Lemon Grove County Library.

All comments on this draft EIR must be submitted in writing to the Environmental Analysis Division by August 11.

Information may be obtained regarding the Environmental Review Board hearing on this project after August 6.

County Planning Chairmen Re-elected

Theodore Jardine and Fred Wilson have been re-elected to serve as chairman and vice-chairman of the County's Board of Planning and Zoning Appeals, according to Robert Jantsch, board secretary. The elections were held at the July 14 meeting of the board.

Three other members of the five-member board are Lois B. Ewen, Dona Foster, and Auren M. Pierce.

The board is entering its second year of service, after being created by the County Board of Supervisors in September of 1974.

CdO SC1stNat Goes Service Saturdays

Full-service Saturday banking begins Saturday at Southern California First National Bank's Casa de Oro office at 9846 Campo rd.

Both lobby and drive-through facilities will be open from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. and most banking services, including new accounts and loans, will be available, according Manager Betty Dial.

SCFNB began Saturday banking in San Diego County in February at its Midway and Point Loma offices. A three-month survey showed that many new accounts were opened at these offices because of Saturday banking.

The success of Midway and Point Loma prompted the Saturday openings of Casa de Oro, and other areas this summer.

Duffy Says He'll Test Sups. Control of His Office

To put it mildly, disagreement exists between the Sheriff's Department and some members of the Board of Supervisors.

Sheriff John Duffy has offered his viewpoint on some of the differences in the following article which he supplied.

In it he refers to Supervisor Jack Walsh who is herewith invited to the same amount of space in a place of equal prominence.

DUFFY'S DARTS

by Sheriff John F. Duffy

"There is no office so important in the administration of justice as that of a sheriff . . ." Walter H. Anderson, author of the authorative "Anderson on Sheriffs, Coroners, and Constables."

The office of sheriff is one of the oldest offices known to the common law system of jurisprudence.

The word "sheriff" goes back to medieval England and comes from "shire", meaning county, and "reve", signifying keeper. The title and authority came to this country with the English settlers and was part of our heritage long before the Revolutionary War.

The office of sheriff was established in California July 1, 1851, as part of the state constitution.

Each county was required to have an elected sheriff.

His constitutional duties included "conservator of the peace in his county." He was also required to (1) "arrest and take before the nearest magistrate for examination all persons who commit or attempt to commit a public offense . . ." (2) "to prevent and suppress all affrays, breaches of the peace, riots, and insurrections . . ." (3) "to execute the process, writs, warrants and orders of the courts . . ." (4) "to attend in person or by deputy, all courts . . . and to obey their lawful orders and directions . . ."

The 1851 Constitution also states "The county jail shall be kept by the sheriff and used as a prison."

Duties Spelled Out

The duties and responsibilities spelled out in the 1851 constitution are essentially unchanged today — except for one thing.

The office of sheriff is no longer in the California constitution.

In 1970 the voters accepted a number of recommended changes to the constitution which were presented in an effort to "clean up the language of the constitution." Few voters realized that in voting for the recommended changes they had eliminated the constitutional requirement for an elected sheriff in each county.

I think it is clear that if San Diego County did not have a charter, and most California counties do not, that our Board of Supervisors would make the sheriff an appointed official.

Today, efforts are being made to circumvent the Charter as amended by the voters effective January 20, 1969. The one section which sticks in the craw of some Supervisors is Section 17.2: Supervision of County Departments and Operations. It reads:

"The Chief Administrative Officer shall execute on behalf of the Board its administrative supervision and control of the affairs of the County placed in his charge by said Board and of all offices, departments, institutions, districts, boards and commissions of the County for whom or for which the Board is required by law to adopt an annual budget, except the Assessor, the Superintendent of Schools, the District Attorney, the Sheriff, and the Civil Service Commission."

Sheriff, D.A. Resist

Meeting resistance, primarily by the sheriff and district attorney at their efforts to meddle in the supervision and control of their departments, they have formally asked the County Counsel for an opinion as to just how much administrative control they have over the Assessor, DA, and Sheriff.

The flap over the Sheriff's SWAT team, the Grand Jury investigation alleged brutality in the jail, the possible formation of a Department of Rehabilitation which would remove the jail from the sheriff, the refusal to acknowledge that the sheriff cannot present a fully prioritized budget the way a non-mandated department can, are all efforts being orchestrated from Jack Walsh's office to discredit and emasculate the office of sheriff.

The "Shire-reve" was appointed by and subject to the king. "King Jack" will apparently not be satisfied until he is the acknowledged King of the County and I am his "Shire-reve."

Don't hold your breath!

Finch Slaps Tunney For Boycott Vote

Robert H. Finch, Republican candidate for the United States Senate, has condemned Senator John Tunney's co-sponsorship of legislation to permit secondary boycotts in the construction industry.

Finch, former Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare, charged that "at a time when Californians are concerned about the spiraling costs of housing, Senator Tunney is supporting legislation to make housing more expensive and less accessible to Californians, particularly to low and middle income families."

California's junior Senator is co-sponsoring legislation that will allow a construction union to force a general contractor or subcontractor off a construction project by picketing every contractor on the site, even those not involved in the disagreement.

Finch noted that "the effects of the Tunney bill would extend beyond housing to the construction of needed environmental, energy and defense projects."

Boycotts Effective

"One small construction union conceivably, could shut down construction of a project like the Alaska oil pipeline, multi-billion dollar project to bring badly needed energy to California and help free America from its dependence on foreign oil."

Likely consequences of the Tunney bill according to Finch, would be:

— More strikes and work stoppages at construction projects.

— Higher construction costs and more inflation.

— Fewer job opportunities for construction workers, especially for minority workers and contractors.

— Indefinite delay in the recovery of America's construction industry, one of the industries hardest hit by the recession.

Spring Valley Elevator Firm Wants to be No. 3

Number three in the industry by the end of the decade is the goal of Spring Valley's claim to industrial fame, U. S. Elevator Corporation.

The firm, a subsidiary of Cubic Corporation, a diversified electronics manufacturer, is now the sixth largest elevator manufacturer in the nation with annual sales of $17 million — half of Cubic's total sales. 825 people are employed at the Spring Valley plant.

U. S. Elevator was the first company to enter the elevator market on a national scale in three decades when it was established in 1966. The company was acquired by Cubic Corporation of San Diego two years later.

Total Company

The present Spring Valley complex was dedicated in October, 1972. Administrative personnel call it a total elevator company performing design, engineering, production, sales, installation and maintenance for all types of buildings. 32 sales and service offices serve customers in major cities across the country.

The firm has customers from coast to coast. Among its long list of clients are Holiday Inn, Transamerica Corporation, Ramada Inns, Howard Johnson, First Nation Bank, Marriott Hotels, Quality Courts, Sears and Roebuck, Rodeway Inns and the San Francisco Bay Area Rapid Transit District (BART).

$5.4 Million From WMATA

Much recent business has come from our nation's capital. Washington Metropolitan Area Transit Authority (WMATA) recently awarded the firm a $1.1 million contract for passenger elevators to lift commuters onto transit loading platforms.

The order is the third pact received by the Cubic Corp. subsidiary from WMATA this year. In total, more than $5.4 million in contracts are involved.

Work on the first two contracts has begun, with production slated to start in January on the new agreement. All elevators will be installed by early 1980 when the 98-mile, $4.8 billion project is completed.

Elevators will be used at each of the 86 stations and primarily for handicapped persons.

The company has contracts with the San Francisco Bay Area Rapid Transit District (BART) for a smiliar type of elevator.

Streamlined Business

Management at U. S. Elevator is continually developing methods to streamline production techniques and cut costs through innovation. The company says it was the first to standardize elevator cab design and size eliminating custom units, thus lowering the price per elevator to the customer. They also lay claim to the first fully computerized elevator control system. Their system, called CMC 1200, is operational in several major buildings in San Diego as well as other parts of the country.

Currently on the drawing boards is a low-cost plastic pre-formed cab which will do away with elevator assembly on the construction site.

Two 25,000 square foot annexes adjoin the main 200,000 sq. ft. building at 2500 Sweetwater Springs blvd. in South Spring Valley. A 120-foot test tower used to evaluate equipment and elevators at speeds up to 1,000 feet per minute rounds out the factory.

Computer Pioneers

Th computer brain, the firm claims, is by far more efficient and economical than other automated systems with preset routes. Using a minicomputer called CMC 1200, high rise structure requires fewer elevators resulting in substantial savings in building costs.

The company asserts that CMC 1200 would enable a 20-story office building that normally would require 10 elevators to move the same amount of people with the same service using only nine.

Elevators that travel 800 to 1000 feet per minute can easily be handled with the CMC 1200. The speeds are three to four times faster than most older high rise elevators can travel.

CMC 1200 is a solid state electronic system that can be programmed to meet any traffic demands. It can also be reprogrammed in minutes should the demands change. The computer anticipates calls and keeps a printed record of traffic demands throughout the building. The elevator goes where people are waiting, not just following a preset top floor to bottom floor route.

"Erector Set" Design

Modular construction and standardization of design have also helped the firm to become a leading producer in the elevator industry.

Following the auto production philosophy, the company builds three basic size elevator cabs, and the parts and components that go with them. From these basic designs any accessory can be ordered or made to suite the actual decor of the building.

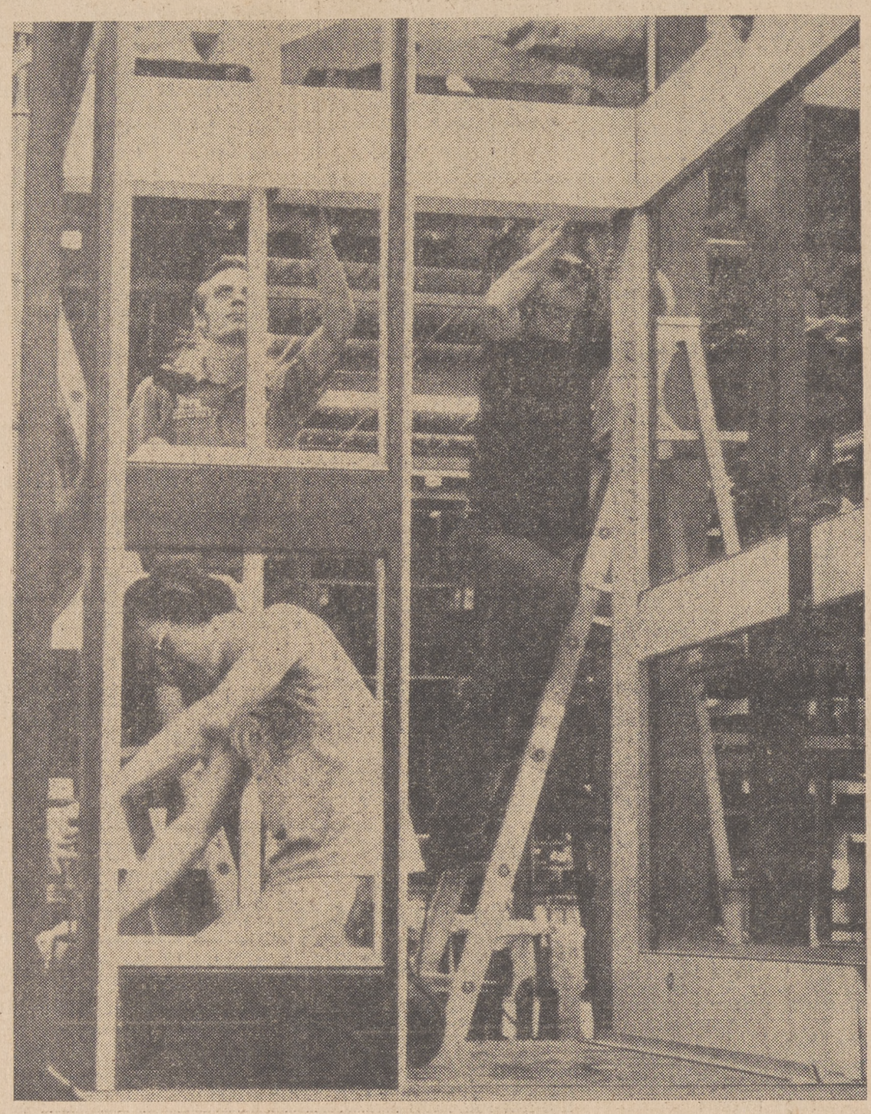
This production strategy reduces factory costs by 30 per cent. The savings are passed on to the customers giving the company a valuable competitive edge when bidding for contracts.

Modular construction allows more of the elevator fabrication to be done in the factory using less material and fewer installation hours on site.

Modular elevators are built on the "erector set" principle. Instead of conventional solid wood and steel cab walls comprising the cab frame, steel beams are used. Side panels are attached to the vertical beams, spaced a standard 2½ feet apart. The simple approach cuts assembly time and makes the cab 20 per cent lighter, reducing power requirements, shipping costs, factory labor and costs to the customer.

U. S. Elevator regards its "high-technology" electronics as the key to its success. Computerization, standardization and modular construction have made the Spring Valley firm a viable competitor in this billion dollar market.

PRECISION GRINDING of elevator pistons, up to six stories in length, are machined at United States Elevator Corporation. These rams are used for low rise hydraulic elevators. The company, which is the largest elevator manufacturer based in the West, produces a variety of elevators, including high speed units for skyscrapers.



LIFT FOR HANDICAPPED — This specially designed glass elevator cab is being assembled for the Washington D.C. transit authority. It will be principally used by handicapped persons. Working on the cab are (l-r) Dennis Rosengren, Bill Lynch, supervisor, and Allen Bagley.

Separate Complaints Bring Separate Marijuana Charges

Sheriff's deputies, answering a party and loud noise complaint July 19 at 1 a.m. at the Spring Valley Mobile Lodge, 9244 Buena Vista dr., Casa de Oro, were greeted by six merry-makers and music as loud as the complaint described. That was easily halted, But the baggie of marijuana, weighing 21 grams and the cigarette papers, that was a different matter.

Five of the group, 19-20 years of age, were released and sent home.

Michael Anthony Phillips, 19, who lived in the mobile-home was charged with possession of marijuana and paraphernalia.

He will be arraigned in El Cajon Municipal Court.

The same night at about 3 a.m. deputies responded to a family disturbance call at 8130 Prock court in Lemon Grove. The complainant explained the noise was a woman screaming.

Timothy Paul Reed, 25, unemployed, explained that the noise came from Sandra Gail Anderson, 20, also unemployed and of the Brock court address, because she had just lost her job.

While officers were waiting on the porch they observed a foot-tall potted marijuana plant. Inside, the woman was placated, until the officers spotted other marijuana goodies lying about.

In addition to the potted plant, officers reported confiscating 2 pipes, a baggie of marijuana, cigarette papers and a roller, a bundle of cut marijuana, surgical clamps and a baggie of stems. The marijuana weighed out at 26.5 grams.

They will be arraigned in El Cajon Municipal Court.

DMV Tries Late Thurs. Closings

All 147 local offices of the State Department of Motor Vehicles are now open every Thursday from 8 a.m. to 6:30 p.m., DMV Director Herman Sillas announced.

The lengthened hours are part of a pilot project which will run until Christmas week. The project is designed to serve motorists who have difficulty visiting DMV offices during their normal Monday-through-Friday, 8 a.m.-5 p.m. hours.

It follows a five-week Saturday-opening trial conducted in May and June at selected DMV offices.

"We are analyzing a variety of ways to be responsive to public needs," Sillas explained. "In months ahead, we will attempt to mold our service to the needs of individual communities."

Sillas noted that most of the larger DMV offices always have been open on Thursday until 6 p.m., but only for drivers license service.

"Recognizing that many motorists have registration problems as well, we're extending the Thursday service in those offices another half hour and expanding to full operations, including registration," Sillas explained.

Employee working hours will be staggered whenever possible to avoid overtime," he added.

Property Value Growth Passes 28-Year High

State Board of Equalization Chairman John W. Lynch released figures showing that the gross assessed value of all locally assessed property in California has risen 11.7 per cent to a total of $79.8 billion for the 1975-76 tax rolls as compared to the 1974-75 total of $71.5 billion.

Lynch said this increase exceeded the 10.8 per cent growth exhibited on last year's roll and is the largest year-to-year per cent increase since the fiscal year 1947-48.

Individual county changes ranged from an increase of 23.7 per cent in Kern County to a 14.9 per cent decrease in Mariposa County. In San Diego County, assessed values rose 13.3 per cent, from $4,881,858 to $5,532,658.

$27 Million Grant Helps City, County Employees

San Diego has received a $27.6 million federal grant to support public service jobs, the San Diego Regional Employment and Training Consortium (RETC) has announced.

The $27,653,815 allocation from the U. S. Department of Labor will be used by the City of San Diego and the County of San Diego to support approximately 4,600 jobs for the county's unemployed during Fiscal Year 1976. This ongoing manpower program is authorized under Titles II and VI of the Comprehensive Employment and Training Act of 1973.

RETC Executive Director Thomas P. Nagle explained that the new funds are not expected to be used to create new public service jobs, but will sustain the 4,600 persons who are already employed in the public sector under the program.

"The funds will go to the City of San Diego and the County of San Diego, which in turn will subcontract with public agencies, private non-profit agencies and community groups to support job slots," Nagle said.

Nagle expects the program to run through the end of Fiscal Year 1976. He added, however, that there may be a phase down in the program late in the fiscal year.

"To carry all 4,600 present program participants for the full year, we would need approximately $51 million," he said. "With the new $27.6 million allocation, plus $9.5 million left over from unspent funds last fiscal year, we should be able to carry all participants until April or May of 1976."

Nagle said he expected that natural attrition — persons leaving the program for jobs in the private sector or in unsubsidized public employment or for other reasons — would decrease the number of participants sufficently to carry those who remain in the program.

RETC is the joint city-county organization which administers federal manpower funds for job training, creation and development under the Comprehensive Employment and Training Act of 1973.

Cars Running Cleaner, Says State's Lynch

Although the difference may not be discernible to your nose and eyes, the number of vehicles qualifying for the "clean air" exemption increased 16.4 percent during the fiscal year 1974-75 according to figures released by State Board of Equalization Chairman John W. Lynch.

As of June 30, there were 29,600 vehicles certified for the exemption, as opposed to 25,427 at the close of June, 1974, reflecting a total of 4,173 permits issued during the year.

The "clean air" exemption was born when, in an effort to encourage reduced air pollution, the Legislature amended the Use Fuel Tax Law, effective January 1, 1971, to grant an exemption from the use fuel tax on liquefied petroleum gas, liquid natural gas and compressed natural gas when the fuel is used in vehicles equipped with a conversion system approved by the State Air Resources Board. Fuel used in approved vehicles is also exempt from the sales and use tax. The exemption will remain in effect until December 31, 1975.

The Board of Equalization administers the Use Fuel Tax Law and issues required permits to persons using such fuel in motor vehicles. When a vehicle is equipped with a conversion system that has been approved by the Air Resources Board as meeting its emission standards, the Board of Equalization can then grant the tax exemption and issue a windshield sticker entitling the owners of the vehicle to purchase fuel for it without payment of the use fuel and sales taxes.

Detailed information on approved systems may be obtained from the State Air Resources Board. Additional information on the tax exemption may be obtained from Board of Equalization field offices located throughout the state.
